A: This seems to be an issue on your end since it happens to me. My comment is about the same size as your image. I have reproduced this multiple times on two computers and both of them have the problem of the dash within the brackets being at the same size as my comment. I don't know whether the site has an issue or what you did, but the markdown is correct. Your post: [What does "///" in front of an image in a comment? ] My comment: 2d92ce491b
