It is available for Windows and Mac. I cannot unlock this software. I need to buy it again. I went to the Epson website and found out I have an old serial number. Is there any way to update it or something. It is. Please, help me. A: I got it solved. I did the following steps: I removed the Epson driver and reinstalled the Epson driver (I still have the file) I opened VueScan and on the top right of the main window you can choose to connect to the scanner with the Epson USB driver. I chose the option "silversfast_allinone" I clicked on "Print" to open the "silversfast_allinone.exe" file. I searched for the serial number in the "Inspector" tab. I clicked on "Scan" and a message appeared saying that the serial number was already used. I scanned and printed an A4 document. I proceeded to "Edit" and then I "unlocked". I could see my Epson USB and I scanned a document again. I clicked on the "Quit" button. I proceeded to VueScan and on the top right there was an option to connect with the "silversfast_allinone.exe" program and then I unlocked. I printed again. I opened the printer again and my scanning program and the Epson USB drivers worked again. Sincerely, Leandro Q: Ajax: button click triggers page reload I am using php, html and javascript.
