Player goals and shots are also tracked with sophisticated AI, developing the data analysis which makes the in-game action so authentic. Further differentiating the results, FIFA 22 also introduces the "Precision Matchday Engine," which brings FIFA to life on a deeper level than ever before. Precision Matchday Engine The "Precision Matchday Engine" powers live services in real-time when a match is being played, including commentary, information, in-game context and statistics. As such, the "Precision Matchday Engine" is able to replicate a more advanced version of the matchday experience than ever before. Refereeing marks are tracked with an emphasis on quality and consistency, while on-ball and off-ball actions are scored with precision. Scores are calculated with the same data that powers moves, tackles and shots. It is this implementation that brings the game to life on the pitch, as live commentary is also marked and scored with the Precision Matchday Engine. The Precision Matchday Engine also introduces a new "Feedback" commentary option that allows clubs and players to communicate more naturally with in-game commentary. Commentator commentary has been improved with contextual data and more realistic delivery, while the reintroduction of the TV Booth allows the game to engage with a new audience. All 22 real-life players are also tracked throughout the matchday experience, so the game can be enjoyed by fans wherever they are. Next-generation player movement The "Precision Matchday Engine" also makes improvements to player movement and sprint speeds. Players can now sprint with greater speed, whether heading forward or backward. Players make their runs on a realistic, motion-capture specific path, as they move through ball-runs, take-ons and ball-retreats. Players now make realistic high-intensity runs, maintaining their balance and style. Players' movements are now more effective, as their pace of play is more realistic and natural. When players are facing forwards, they will apply pressure towards open spaces more realistically. When they are facing backwards, they will retreat for cover as their defender closes down. When players are facing sideways, they have greater perception of positioning and awareness when they are forced to change direction. The new AI on the pitch enables fans to enjoy more realistic and diverse highlights. With FIFA 22, you can create action replays of more ownership. We're FIFA. FIFA is you. The World Cup is just around the corner. Will you show the world how good you really are? New career mode: Pro More than ever before, FIFA introduces Pro Evolution Soccer to the FIFA franchise. Pro takes the ultimate in football gameplay to a higher level. You'll play, train, and develop a Pro player using an all-new management system to build a team, draft players and create and customize game-play enhancements. A new play style system allows you to customize your attacking, defending and midfield play with more control and nuance than ever before. The way you play, train and manage your players has never been more important. Pro Evolution Soccer puts you in full control to create and mold a unique Pro team and player with unparalleled depth and performance. You'll use a new training mode to practice and perfect any player. Plus, a new career mode allows you to refine your player through solo, custom and online play. Deformation engine

FIFA 2.0 was the first FIFA game to feature deformation, which is the primary difference between FIFA 2.0 and any previous game in the series. The new engine made FIFA 2.0 the most fluid, realistic game in the series at the time of release. Deformation brings the unique simulation and control to a new level in every area of the game. It takes the game from "good" to "great." Deformation is the core foundation for the next generation of gameplay in FIFA. This engine also enables dynamic lighting for the first time, cutting scene loading times by more than 50 percent. Plus, with the ability to use up to 4K resolution on PC, players can experience a truly breathtaking gameplay. Control, touch and performance are 100% improved With a brand new control
